Cabin motorboat Good Go TF240, a robust and functional vessel particularly designed for sport fishing.

This model stands out for the strength of its construction, featuring a hull strategically designed for coastal fishing, reminiscent of the style of Boston Whaler boats, well known for their safety and excellent behaviour at sea — qualities highly valued by sport fishing enthusiasts.

The cockpit offers a wide and uncluttered working area, ideal for manoeuvring while fishing and allowing anglers to operate with comfort and safety. The small cabin provides shelter and essential storage, an added advantage during longer outings.

The vessel is currently located in a boatyard, allowing for a complete inspection of the hull and easy evaluation for potential buyers. An excellent opportunity for anyone looking for a solid platform for sport fishing, with a robust hull and strong potential for use.
